1. a) Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions:-

6

By nature, human beings love to beautify themselves and their surroundings; and they also like to share their feelings and ideas with other people. This tendency shows itself in every place and age. Even primitive men decorated their earthenware pots with lines or colours for the sheer delight of seeing them - although these have no practical use. When civilization progressed and people had more means and time at their disposal to make things beautiful or artistic, they produced many works of art, such as imposing buildings with ornamental gardens, paintings and sculpture. In fact, art holds an honoured place in every great civilization since beauty serves to enrich our souls with spiritual joy.

Beauty appears primarily in nature in a pretty flower a rugged mountain or a glorious sunset.
